

I was recently asked about camellia varieties that are cold hardy. A search of the American Camellia Society (ACS) website and the nomenclature showed that when a camellia is named most 'cold hardy' ones will have the following key words:

- Japonicas with the "April" in the name. We have April Remembered in our inventory, notice the ACS document reflects, 'Other Information: Cold hardy.'
  - Non-Reticulata
     Hybrids with
- Species: Japonica Cream center to pink shaded edges with Color: yellow anthers and cream filaments Form: Semidouble Large E-L Bloom Season: Growth Rate: Vigorous growth Leaf Characteristics: Dark green Originator: Clifford R. Parks Place of Origination: U.S. - Chapel Hill, North Carolina Year of Registration / 1995 - ACS Registration #2342 Origination: Japonica 'Berenice Boddy' x Japonica Heritage: 'Dr. Tinsley' Other Information: Cold hardy Photographer: John Swanson

April Remembered

- the word Winter, Arctic or Ice in its name.
- Any camellia with the word "Snow" included in the name.

Following are other camellias that are cold hardy without these key words. This list is not exclusive but many of our antique camellias are cold hardy:

Hybridizers, Dr. William Ackerman, Dr. Clifford Parks, and Longwood Gardens have introduced many cold hardy camellias. Though some of the cold hardy camellias could be found locally, I would not suggest taking a plant from Florida Zone 9 and planting it in Ohio Zone 6. I would at least protect it the first year so that it can adapt to the weather. Planting them on a protected south facing would help also. - Greg Taylor / President

We Sure Have Been Busy!

Member, Leland Leonard shares his woodworking skills at Quayside Gallery on the third Friday of each month. You know, 'Gallery Night,' downtown Pensacola takes ART to the streets with artists, music, and food for a taste of the Culture of Pensacola. Leland rolls out his woodworking lathe and demonstrates to the audience how he makes wooden vases. As you can see, when the Camellias are blooming, the vases are filled with his Camellias from his yard. The vases made that night are given away unfinished for visitors to stain. The Quayside Gallery also takes part in Palafox Market every Saturday at the south end, aka in Jackson Park, with various artist's items for sale. When Leland is there he includes our club's advertisements of upcoming events during Camellia season. Thank You Leland!

If you are sharing Pensacola Camellia Club information at various events that you attend please share with us. We can support your event or provide you with flyers of our future events too.

I think we may see some Daddy Mac camellias for sale in the future. Mack Thetford provided the greenhouse at UF Milton campus for the benefit of the club to graft on Saturday. I heard there are 200 grafts completed that day. Excellent!

Member Lee Vanderpool took the lead for Okaloosa County

Arbor Day on Jan. 19th with the planting of a bald cypress at the Women Veteran Memorial at Veterans Park on Okaloosa Island hosted by the Destin Garden Club. Yes he contacted John Davy for the purchased of this special memorial plant.

PCC is invited annually to attend the Japanese New Year Festival at Wright Place which was on Jan. 20th. Instead of being in the lobby area with our plants to sell we had front row seats near the stage.

The place was packed with families and tasty Japanese food items. We educated their guests on Camellias, which are native plants of Japan & China.

PCC was at Palafox Market on Jan. 27th which was a hit with Magali Solinaho who purchased 8 plants for her mom. She joined the club and attended V. Paul's for 'Salute to the Camellia.' She attended and entered her blooms at the Novice Show on Feb 3rd and won 'Best Small in the Unknown Variety.'

The Novice Camellia show at the NW Florida library was my first activity with the Camellia Club. I really didn't know what to expect so I just participated in set up on Friday and as an observer on Saturday. Every member in attendance was so kind and patient in answering my questions and it turned out to be a fun day and I learned so much. I don't think I'm ready to enter my blooms in a juried show but I certainly will enter the next novice show! I kept this short... I need to go plant the three new camellias I bought at the show!. Karan Llewellyn

At the Community Show, Best in Show was 'Elaine's Betty Red Varigated' by Cindi McDonald. Best Heritage was 'Herme' by Maria Rosasco and Besh White was 'Leucantha' by Barb Del Costillo. More photos from the show are on our website. https://pensacolacamelliaclub.com/photo-galleries/

Katherine Randall commented, 'The show for novice gardeners was fun, exciting, and very educational! I was happy to participate in setting up on Friday and entering my blooms on Saturday. I learned from judges the intricacies of how each bloom was judged and graded for their awards. I loved being surrounded by so many beautiful blooms.'
